

Game: Splash

Purpose:

Just a bit of fun to get the young people thinking and laughing together.

Gather the young people in a circle. Choose one person to start the game in the middle of the circle.

Get them to choose a category eg chocolate bars, countries, football teams, and choose one thing from the category. Get them to write it down on a slip of paper and hide it from everyone.

The person tells the rest of the group the category and one by one each person has to say something from the category. You cannot repeat an answer that someone else has said, otherwise you get splashed and the game continues!

If they say the same as what is written down, the person in the middle can splash them! You can either use a water pistol or a splash of water in a cup. Once someone has been splashed, it is their turn to be in the middle.
