

Providing pastoral support for clergy and their spouses in Connor Diocese and encouraging health within ministry

Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving each other, just as in Christ God forgave you.

Ephesians 4:32

Pastoral Support

Connor Diocese Pastoral Support
Church of Ireland House
61-67 Donegall Street
Belfast BT1 2QH

what we do...

We offer support to clergy in the areas of mediation, counselling and spiritual direction/accompaniment. This support is also available to clergy spouses. Essentially we will provide a 'safe' place to talk. The service is strictly confidential, and this may be for an individual, a couple or a group. This service is supported financially by the Diocese.

how we can help...

If you have a personal or parish problem you can talk it over with a member of the team. We will see what type of help would be most useful and, where appropriate, we can offer up to 6 counselling sessions.

when/where you can see us...

We can meet at your home or in another suitable venue and on a day/time that is convenient.

possible concerns...

- I need to debrief on pastoral experiences in my parish
- I am finding it difficult to cope in conflict situations
- I'm overwhelmed with responsibilities
- I've too little space for prayer, study, sermon preparation
- I would appreciate some support to review my work
- I don't know where to go with my own experience of family problems, bereavement, crisis in faith, etc
- I just need to talk to someone.
