

Game: Fixing The Fruit

Purpose: a game which helps young people problem solve together!

You need two pieces of different fruit for each young person present. You could have apples, oranges, bananas, aubergines. You might want to split your group into smaller groups if this would be too difficult.

Gather your group in a circle and give them a coloured sticker or label which matches one of the fruit, eg you have 2 oranges and one of the young people has an orange sticker.

The aim of the game is to have each person's sticker or label match the fruit in their hands.

The leader mixes up the fruit and takes away one piece of fruit. This means each player should have 2 pieces of fruit which don't match their label & one player has a free hand.

The group has to work together to re-arrange the fruit to win. There are two main rules:

1. Players can only have 1 pieces of fruit in each hand at any time.
2. The players are only allowed to pass fruit to an empty hand of the person beside them. Therefore the players must use the empty hand to move the fruit around.
